CIECUIT COURT.—Judge Moore delivered an eloquent charge to the Grand Jury yes-terday. He was particularly explicit on the crime of treason. He stated the law defining tressor; said it must consist of an overt act, and must be proved by two witnesses to that overt act, or by the party's confession in open Court. It was not the duty of the present Jury to inquire into treason against the United States, but only against the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The Judge referred to the decision of Chief-Justice Marshall, according to whom, to constitute the overtact of treason there must be an suctual assemblage of men for the pur-pose of executing a treasonable design.

He also instructed the Jury that according to the laws of Kentusky, it a citizen of the State culists in the service of the Confederate States and invades the State of Kentucky States and invades the State of Kentucky with a military force, he is guilty of felony. If any citizen persuades another to culist in the Confederate army and Assocs so sulist, he is guilty of high misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine and imprisonment.

The commonwealth dacket was then commenced, and Harry Sommers, consisted of keeping a tippling house, was fixed $60. G. W. Thompson, John Cotzell and Wm. Boswell were fixed $50 cach for selling liquor to minors.

MILITARY EXECUTION.—On Friday last the account military execution, which has occurred during the present war, took place at Camp Cox, Charleston, Va. R. C. Catewood, a private in the First Kentucky Regiment, having been tried and convicted of desertion, was shot in the presence of his Brigade on that day. According to the usual custom twelve men were detailed to execute the sentence, eight of whom were selected to fire on the first round, the remaining four being reserved first round, the remaining four being reserved in case a second fire should be required. Seven of their muskets being loaded with balts and one with blank carridge, so that none of the executioners knew whether they were firing ball or blank. The deserter fell pier ed with four balls on the first fire.

THE STEAMBOAT COLLISION CASE .- The local Inspectors of this port yesterday concluded their investigation of the collision between the steamers Belle Creole and Freestone, opposite the Little Miami River, on the 29th of November, by which the former was sunk, but afterward raised. The Inspectors find that the Creole was according the Ohio, near the Kantucky shore, her proper place in the river, and that her pitot blew the steam whistic one blast, signifying that she intended to keep up that shore. The Freestone, then seven to eight hundred yards distant, descending the river, answered the Creole's whistle by two blasts of the whistle, and made for the Kentucky shore when, by continuing down the middle of the river, her proper place, she should have sounded one whistle and no accident would have occurred. The result of this violation of the pilots' rules by the pilot of the Free-stone, the steamers collided. The In pectors have decided the act was the result of reprehensible carelessness on the part of Pilot Rice of the Freestone, and have suspended his license as a punishment.

BOLD ROBBERY .- This morning, about eight o'clock, three men entered the store of Mr. Askenkamp, on Main-street, between Six b and Seventh, and while two parties engaged the attention of Mr. A. by pretending to make some trifling purchase the other one stole an overcoat, which was hanging on a book in front of the establish-

Arrival of the North Star.

New York, Monday, December 21. The steamship North Stor, from Aspinwall to the 14th, has arrived. She brings $823,000 in treasure.

The French transport ship—the Resource— bound to Callao, was wrecked forty miles sou h of Valparaiso. She had six hundred souls on board, only five or six of whom were saved.

Statement of a Prisoner in Alabama-Union feeling in that State.

NEW York, Monday, December 33, Levi Mann, colored, formerly a watter on the steamer Star of the West, and who for a long time has been a prisoner in Alabams, arrived recently from Fort Pickens. He informs the Herald that there are over 8,000 runs way negroes living in the woods in Alabama. They have vague ideas of the war. Mann was at the rebel guard house at Warrenton during the bombardment. He says when Fort Pick-ens opened on the rebels in the Navy Yard a regiment of Mississippi troops were on morn-

The attack was wholly unexpected by the rebel soldiers, and when the firing commenced they broke ranks, and, despite all the entreaties of their officers, retreated in double quick time, throwing away their rifles, blankets and equipments. After the rebels opened their bat-teries on Fort Pickens they became more cool, and the determined manner of General Bragg, and other high rank officers who moved from point to point as the bombardment progressed, was frequently noticed. During the bombard-ment the Union shot and shell dismounted three guns in Fort McRes, and breached it in several places, so that the rebels found it unterable, and consequently evacuated it. The buildings in the Navy yard were all perforated with shor, and the village of Warrenton entirely destroyed.

Mr. Mann is of the opinion that had the combardment been followed by the landing of Union troops on the enemy's soil, their effects could not but have been attended with success, so thoroughly were the rebels demoralized. He says there are many Union men at Pennacols who are per force in the rebel army, and only wait in the hope of a speedy deliverance by the landing of Union troops.

Pope-Governor Magoffin's Brother. Part of the prisoners captured by General Pope, at Biack Water, last Thursday, passed down last night, on a special train. Amore of Governor Magoffin, of Kentucky; Colonel Robinson, who had command of the rebel force at Black Water, and who was in the battles of Dug Springs, Wilson's Greek and Lexington; Colonel Alexander, who says he fought in all the battles; Lieutenant Colonel Robinson, Major Harris, Dr Smith, one of the wealthiest men and largest slaveholder in Missouri, who has done every thing to his power to aid and comfort the enemy; McKeown, steriff of Benton County, who, it is said, by misrepresenta-tion, gained admittance into one of our camps, made a diagram of it, and left, and that night the rebels made an attack and killed 16 or 17 of our men; Dr. Moore, of Syracuse, and many others who have gained notoriety by their real and labors in the Secretion army. Many of the prisoners were a kind of uniform, and have served with Price for several months. They all say they have been well treated by the "Feds," and seem to think that they will soon be released by Price. The wagers, horses, and mules were turned over to the Quartermaster of Sedalia. The troops are again in position at Lumine. We were absent on this expedition just five days. In this time we marched about one bundred miles in a direct line from this place, and scoured the country through which we passed for a distance of forty or fifty miles on each side of the route. Took about fifteen bundred prisoners, one thousand horses and mules, a thousand stand of arms, one hundred wagons, and quantities of stores, supplies and clothing. General Pope has read the following dispatch from General Halleck :

"HEAD-QUARTERS, DEP'T OF THE MISSOURI, Decomber 20, 1861. "I congratulate you and your command on the brilliant success of your expedition. I hope it will be the forerunger of still greater auccess. Signed, H. H. HALLEOK,
